

Media Contact:
Wendy Howell, Director of Public Relations & Information
whowell@albanytech.edu
229.430.3816

For Immediate Release
July 22, 2010

Albany Technical College to Present Maintenance Center Albany with Manufacturer of the Year Award

Albany Technical College will present the Marine Corps Logistics Command Maintenance Center Albany (MCA) with a Manufacturer of the Year award on Monday, July 26th, at 2 p.m. in front of the Maintenance Center facility.

As a vital educational partner in southwest Georgia, Albany Technical College has developed diploma and degree programs in Business Logistics Management to provide employees for MCA. In addition, Albany Tech ramped up training in their welding program when MCA needs professionals who are specifically trained with skills to retrofit war-fighting equipment.

“Albany Technical College is pleased to provide this honor to MCA and looks forward to our continued partnership in years to come. With this honor, we hope to demonstrate the level of support we should all share in this community for this vital partner,” said Dr. Anthony Parker, President of Albany Technical College.

About Albany Technical College

A public postsecondary institution of the Technical System of Georgia, Albany Technical College provides technical education and training support for the evolving workforce needs of Southwest Georgia through traditional and online classroom settings. For more information about Albany Tech, go to www.AlbanyTech.edu or become a fan on Facebook at www.Facebook.com/AlbanyTech